

INDUSTRY SECTOR IN MONTEVERDE

Live and learn near one of Costa Rica's spectacular tropical cloud forests while gaining skills in ecotourism, sustainability, climate action, and more.*

Climate Change

Mitigation, adaptation, and climate change action:

- + CORCLIMA

Environmental Education

Curriculum development, classroom experience, and activity planning:

- + Monteverde Friends School
- + Cloud Forest School / Centro de Educación Creativa
- + Children's Eternal Cloud Rainforest

Research and Conservation

Wildlife monitoring, climate change research, and ecological research:

- + Tropical Science Center
- + Monteverde Institute
- + CIEE Campus Forest Reserve

Marketing and Business

Social media, marketing for conservation, and marketing for tourism:

- + Cala Lodge
- + Monteverde Conservation League
- + La Tilichera Swap Shop

Gain experience and make memories you won't forget.

Ecotourism at Its Best

This thriving community in Costa Rica's Tilarán mountain range was one of the world's first tourist destinations to develop the concept of conserving nature to generate wealth. Today, it is a hub for tourism, conservation, and sustainable development. Monteverde thrives around the endangered cloud forest habitat, which is home to unique flora and fauna. Within this dynamic community, you'll find opportunities for internships in environmental research, climate change activism, and sustainable farming practices, as well as an amazing lifestyle living in the tropics.

Sustainable Food Production

Permaculture, community gardens, and food security:

- + Valle Escondido Farm
- + Monteverde Community Garden
- + CIEE Campus Farm
- + Finca Laguna Verde

Community Development

Policy, social outreach, community improvement, and corporate social responsibility:

- + San Luis Development Association
- + Monteverde Community Fund

Tourism

Hospitality and sustainability in tourism:

- + Hotel Belmar
- + Cala Lodge
- + Santa Elena Cloud Forest Reserve
- + Valle Escondido
- + Sky Adventures

Find the internship that will launch your career